

This document has a 1.5 inch margin all the way around. You can see how nice the soul ~~add-on~~ package is within a document.

Now you can see that ~~everything~~ a lot of things have changed. In fact, I changed all of the colors I was able to change. But the text is still the `s a m e c o l o r`. If you can't discern these colors correctly, just ask.

You'll notice that this paragraph is not justified in the usual manner.¹ I just wanted a little change of pace—what can I say?

Note the justification of this paragraph too. Have you worked on your résumé recently? The time for summer internship applications is coming up soon, so if you're planning to apply for some ...

¹The default justification for LaTeX is full justification.